

Liquid and swarf vacuum cleaner

KÄRCHER

Application

The IVR-L 100/24-2 Tc Me is a compact industrial vacuum cleaner with particularly robust characteristics. The oil-resistant castors and power cable underline the excellent suitability of this durable machine for everyday applications in tough industrial environments. Can also be carried with a forklift truck. The vacuum cleaner features a 100 litre stainless steel container with tilting frame - perfect for vacuuming large quantities of liquid and/or mainly dust-free solids such as swarf. An optional swarf basket facilitates perfect separation from liquids. The stainless steel design makes the IVR-L 100/24-2 Tc Me industrial vacuum cleaner incredibly versatile. Even corrosive media can be vacuumed easily.

Execution

- New drive head for increased safety, comfort and performance; the low weight of the drive head facilitates handling during transport, emptying and maintenance. The cable is attached to the machine head for greater safety during transport. An integrated exhaust air cover prevents contamination in the motor area.
- 360° working radius; clean working in every direction thanks to the rotatable hose connection on the suction head. The suction hose does not get twisted.
- Secure accessory mounting; suction hose hook and dedicated accessory holders ensure that the machine is kept tidy and ready to use at all times.
- Robust material, designed for industrial use; ideal for applications in the metalworking industry.
- Practical tilting frame; quick and easy tank emptying: simply tilt back and empty.

Delivery

- Tilting frame for container emptying
